

LART-313 : Food and Cultures: Spain

In this class, you will study the regional foods, drinks, and foodways of Spain to better understand evolving global food culture and food systems. Through focused readings and experiential activities, we will look at food traditions and heritage, etiquette and manners, the technologies of food and drink production, the social impacts of food habits, regionality and terroir, and the challenges of the global landscape.

Credits 3

Prerequisites

College Writing (LITC-100).